

Gc
929.2
H9265HJ
1948

✓

ALLEN COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

3 1833 02480 0754

GC 929.2 H9265HU 1948
HUNTLEY NATIONAL ASSOCIATION
ANNUAL REUNION 1948, JUNE
THE HUNTLYS OF MARLOW

GC
929.2
H9265HU
1948

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2019

<https://archive.org/details/huntlysofmarlows00unse>

3 mos 400

THE HUNTLYS OF MARLOW

*A Souvenir Booklet for Our Members Everywhere
& Our Guests Attending*

2nd Annual Reunion

A T

JONES HALL

Marlow, New Hampshire

June 26th and 27th, 1948

HUNTLEY NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

GENEALOGY COLLECTION
PUBLIC LIBRARY
FORT WAYNE & ALLEN CO., IND.

Allen County Public Library
Ft. Wayne, Indiana

2/8/6

7091894

Syracuse, New York

Dear Members and Friends:

In this souvenir booklet, I have endeavored to give you a graphic picture of those Huntleys and Huntley descendants who did so much to settle Marlow Township, Cheshire County, New Hampshire, and their relationship to John Huntly, the immigrant who had settled in Lyme Township, Connecticut, some hundred years previous.

The source of this information was from my own records, the records of Mrs. Alice P. Huntley of Hanover, Massachusetts, and the records of Fred H. Huntley of Evanston, Illinois, and from "The History of Cheshire County" owned by Roy D. Huntley of Marlow. All of the above named are personally interested in the Marlow Huntleys by reason of descent or marriage.

This booklet is given to be used and studied until you tire of seeing it around — then chuck it! If I could have filled its pages with the stories and anecdotes such as the migrated Huntleys of Marlow must have known, I can assure you this book would be well worth keeping; but the most of those tales are hidden forever in the many Huntley graves of Old West Burying Ground. Perhaps some of the Huntleys are included in the twenty-seven unmarked graves high on the hill beneath the brambles and tag-alders.

The association extends sincere thanks to Roy and Anna, and to Fred and Irene, who have done so much and made this gathering possible.

Very sincerely,

ROYCE E. HUNTLEY.

From a Kodachrome by ROYCE E. HUNTLEY

Vista beneath the budding foliage of another spring is HUNTLEY MOUNTAIN from across Sand Pond, ever listening to the silence and the peace that is his.

The HUNTLYS of MARLOW

The Huntleys of Lyme, Connecticut, started their trek up the Connecticut River Valley in 1766. The Huntleys were that — they were Huntleys; but also they were the Macks, the Gees, the Tubbs, the Millers and the Lewises. All traced their ancestry to John Huntly, an early settler of Saybrook township, who, with a dozen others had set off that part of Saybrook east of the Connecticut River and called it Lyme.

When the children of Aaron Huntley, II, and his wife, Deborah DeWolfe, came to Marlow township they built and settled at Marlow Hill.

Aaron and Deborah's oldest child was Hannah, who married Rev. Ebenezer Mack. Of their nine children four of them came to New Hampshire. Solomon and his wife, Lydia Gates, came to Gilsum, and later moved to Tunbridge, Vermont. He served in the Revolutionary War in General Israel Putnam's company. Samuel Mack married Lydia Brainard in Chatham, Connecticut, and they came to Marlow. He was the first person to build a dam across the Connecticut River. They are buried in the West Burying Ground. Hepsibah, a daughter of Rev. Ebenezer and Hannah (Huntley) Mack, married Abisha Tubbs, who came to Marlow shortly after their marriage. Capt. Elisha

The HUNTLYS of MARLOW

Mack married Diadama Rathburne, moved to Marlow, but in 1782 removed to Montague, Massachusetts.

Aaron, III, and his wife, Mary Leach, sent one son, Sylvanus, and his wife, Mehitable, to Marlow Hill; Deborah Huntly, daughter of Aaron, II, married Solomon Gee and two of their three sons joined the Marlow party. They were Stephen and Solomon Gee; Phebe, another daughter of Aaron, II, married Nichodemus Miller, and with their two daughters, Amy and Eunice, came to Marlow. Jemima, still another daughter of Aaron, II, was the wife of Eber Lewis and they were among the first residents of Marlow.

Probably the person whose name appears the most in the annals of Marlow is that of Nathan (Aaron, II; Aaron, I; John) or his descendants. Nathan was born in Lyme Township, June 2, 1726, and died at Marlow Hill, April 31, 1798*. He was married in Lyme, October 6th, 1746, to Luce, a daughter of Quarles and Mary Smith. She was born in 1727 and died March 25, 1802. Nathan enlisted from Marlow, April 21, 1775, and served at the siege of Boston. They are buried at the old West Burying Ground. Their first child, Azubah, died young in Lyme. But Nathan and Luce, with their six sons, moved to

* The old calendar.

The HUNTLYS of MARLOW

Marlow — Rufus, Isaiah, Luman, Nathan, Russell and Elisha. Later Isaiah and his wife, Eunice Church, moved to Dubxury Corners, near Waterbury, Vermont. Rufus married Esther, daughter of Asa Moore. He was a captain in the Revolutionary War; Luman married Lurena Beckwith and resided at Charlestown; Nathan, Jr., married (1st) Mary Persons, (2nd) Eunice Royce; Russell married Ama Miller, daughter of Nichodemus and Phebe (Huntley) Miller. He was a soldier in Col. Bellows Regiment at Ticonderoga. Elisha married Clarinda Gustin, daughter of John and Lydia (Mack) Gustin. He was a Brig.-General of Military, and is the first of the Marlow Huntleys to spell their name with the e.

All of these have been traced from John Huntly, Immigrant, through the line of Aaron. Yet, another quirk offers itself in the history of Marlow. Hannah, daughter of Benarjah, (Moses 3, Moses 2, John 1) married first Hezikiah Huntly (Samuel, John, Aaron, John). Hezikiah was killed at a barn raising. The widow married (2nd) Jonathan Huntly. From this line was the widow of Curtis Huntly, the last of the Huntleys living on Huntley Mountain.

Menu

FRUIT JUICE

ROAST TURKEY

MASHED POTATOES

VEGETABLES

CRANBERRY SAUCE

GARDEN SALAD

ROLLS

COFFEE

APPLE PIE A LA MODE

THE OFFICIAL DINNER

BY

THE WOMEN'S SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN SERVICE OF MARLOW, NEW HAMPSHIRE

SERVED AT

ODD FELLOWS HALL
SUNDAY, JUNE 27, 1948

Those I Met at Marlow

HECKMAN
BINDERY INC.

APR 85

N. MANCHESTER,
INDIANA 46962

